A CodeRead® Rewards Card Account will be issued in the name provided first on the application. Only one account number is attached to each application. If spouse wishes to have a separate account, a separate application must be submitted. Relatives and friends, who wish to receive Cards under your account number may do so, however, all Rewards Credits earned by using Rewards Cards with your account number will be credited directly to your personal account, which can only be accessed by the primary Card holder (First name on this application).
